TitanFile

Private Correspondence and File Sharing

TitanFile is the easiest and most secure way for professionals to communicate and share files with their clients.

We understand that as a business professional you have a need to send large files and communicate with your clients while maintaining security and confidentiality.

You want something that will make your life simpler. Something that will keep all your correspondence neatly organized in one place and give you tracking information on shared documents. Something you can depend on. Something you can use every day because it's easy and fast; coupled with iron-clad security to give you and your clients peace of mind.

TitanFile is the solution. It is a secure correspondence platform that manages documents (of all sizes) and messages while providing control and auditability. It organizes your correspondence around client, matter or project. Unlike email and consumer-grade cloud file sharing services, TitanFile uses certified security, is HIPAA compliant, and is as easy as email!
